VALUABLE PREMIUMS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 19.—Of interest to every city and town in Oklahoma is the 1911 plan of the Boys' and Girls' week at the Oklahoma State Fair, September 26 to October 7. It will be the second annual event and word comes from the Agricultural and Mechanical college at Stillwater that two boys and one girl are expected from every county in the state. They must be from 14 to 18 years of age, and active members of the Oklahoma Boys and Girls' agricultural club. The Farmers' Institute in each county may select one boy. The county superintendent of schools may call a delegate convention of the boys' and girls' clubs to select the other boy and girl. Names of the delegates must be reported to the A. & M. college before Sept. 1, 1911.

The work of the boys will be built on very much the same lines as followed last year, and the work of the girls will include instructions in domestic science, art work, physical training, games, and instructive lessons concerning the exhibits at the Oklahoma State Fair. Fully equipped cookery rooms will be available and the instructions given under the care of professors of Domestic Science in the college.

Another interesting feature of the State Fair this year will be the Boys' Corn Growing contest in which the Oklahoma State Fair has offered $1,140 in cash premiums. The competition is open to boys eighteen years old and under, residents of the State of Oklahoma. All exhibitors must send corn grown in the year 1911. While the fair association would like to see each boy making an exhibit, his presence will not be necessary. Exhibits shall consist of ten ears of corn. County collective exhibits will also be a special feature of the big exposition this year and counties are now making entries. In addition to cash premiums amounting to $1,235 for county exhibits, a beautiful cup will be awarded each year to the county securing the first premium on the county collective exhibits. The name of the winning county will be properly engraved thereon and the cup must be returned each year to be competed for at the annual Oklahoma State Fair at Oklahoma City.

Amusements are now being engaged for the big show this fall and it is proposed to have the best to be procured. No less than twenty big attractions will be seen on what is commonly termed the "Midway" while any number of costly acts will be seen in front of the grand stand each day.

ONE JURY DISAGREES; BURRIS CASE DISMISSED

The jury in the Purlette burglary case was evenly divided on the question of his guilt or innocence, and was discharged today by Judge McKeown.

Mack Burris, charged with killing Tecumseh Brown near Stonewall some months ago, was placed on trial, but Daniel Brown, a brother of the deceased, who was a star witness for the state in the preliminary hearing, told altogether a different story when placed on the stand today. According to his first statement, his brother was simply the victim of an unprovoked assault by Burris, who used a club or possibly a fence rail with deadly effect. In the testimony given today he stated that his brother also had a club and was fighting with Burris when the fatal blow was struck. Under this showing Burris had a strong case of self defense, and realizing the futility of further prosecution, County Attorney Wimbish moved to dismiss the case, which the judge did.

As the paper goes to press preparations are being made to take up the John Allen case of statutory rape.

FATAL FALL FROM TRAIN

ROLAND HUBBARD OF FRANCIS DIES THIS MORNING FROM INJURIES RECEIVED.

Tuesday night about 12 o'clock, Roland Hubbard, a young man of probably twenty-three years, was killed in the Frisco yards at Ada by falling from a freight train near the ice factory.

He had walked in from Lawrence where he had been to look for work, and it is said that an engineer of a freight train just ready to pull out for Francis agreed to take him home and save that much of the walk. As the train was pulling out he tried to go back from the engine to the caboose and missing his footing as he was stepping from the tender to the first car fell off on the ground. He fell clear of the track, but as the train was crossing a trestle the fall was a long one. He fell on his shoulder and suffered severe internal injuries, rupturing blood vessels in his lungs and injuring his spine so that he was partially paralyzed. He was brought to town and died shortly before 4 o'clock this morning.

The remains will probably be taken to Hickory for burial. Deceased is survived by his wife.

THE LORIMER BRIBE INQUIRY

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE OF WITNESSES—BAD MEMORY PLAYS PART.

Washington, July 18.—Two witnesses before the Lorimer inquiry committee today refuted in detail the sworn statements yesterday of William Burgess, who declared that C. F. Wiehe of Chicago, secretary of the Edward Hines Lumber Company, had boasted that he had contributed $10,000 toward a fund of $100,000 to elect Lorimer.

The witnesses were Charles McGowan of Regina, Canada and D. A. Johnson of Chicago. The former is a well-known contractor and the latter is a writer formerly employed by the American Lumberman. Both were traveling companions with Burgess and Wiehe on a train from Duluth, Minn., to Virginia, Minn., in March last year.

Lorimer Becomes Cheerful.

Burgess alleged that Wiehe made his statement about the slush fund contribution in the smoking compartment of the car in which all were riding. McGowan, claiming to have heard everything said in the compartment that night, swore that Lorimer's name was not mentioned by Wiehe. Johnson was equally emphatic on the point.

The statements on the stand of McGowan and Johnson constitute about the most cheerful thing from the standpoint of the Lorimerites that has transpired in the inquiry recently. Mr. Lorimer, who has been constant and bland in his attendance at the sessions, indulged in a large, open-faced smile, which was infectious in his immediate vicinity.

Occupied Several Seats.

Witness Johnson is an extremely large man, weighing probably in the neighborhood of 300. As he took his seat, Lawyer Hynes asked him what seat he occupied in the smoking compartment.

"Well," remarked the witness, "I occupied several seats."

"At different times," suggested the lawyer.

"Oh, yes, certainly, at different times," replied the witness.

The joke was too much for the committee. Chairman Dillingham promptly announced a recess until tomorrow.

In addition to the contradictory testimony of McGowan and Johnson, the committee today was treated to close study of Isaac Baker, a buyer for the Edward Hines Lumber Company, who had a remarkable facility for remembering and forgetting things of interest to the committee. He was present at the conversation between Mr. Hines and Clarence Funk, at which the latter alleged he was asked by Hines to subscribe $10,000 to a Lorimer election fund, and was in the Grand Pacific Hotel in Chicago when Hines talked over the long distance with either Gov. Deneen or Senator Lorimer, which it has not been conclusively shown.

Says He Overheard Hines.

Baker was able to duplicate with preciseness the language used by Mr. Hines on both occasions. In this respect, he was like Miss Carroll, the telephone operator, also an employee of Mr. Hines. He remembered everything exactly as it was remembered by Hines in his testimony. Other details which the committee asked by the way of memory test, he did not remember at all.

A new witness today was Donald M. Frame, clerk in charge of the cigar stand in the Union League Club in Chicago. He said he overheard the "I elected him" conversation between Hines and his competitor, Herman H. Hettler. Mr. Hettler was on the stand yesterday. Frame said he remembered distinctly hearing Hines say, "I elected Lorimer. I did it myself, personally."

GOSPEL TENT ON NORTH SCHOOL GROUND

A capacity audience was present last night at the tent on north school ground where the pastor of the First Christian church is conducting a meeting. The subject for the evening was "From Beggar to Riches."

Sin makes beggars, spiritual beggars. Christ makes men spiritually rich. Save a man and he does not care whether there is a fat statute book against a sinful life or not. He lives above the desire to steal, kill, etc. The law represents the lowest class of a citizen—the minimum man. Christ not only made it a sin to commit an overt act, but the very desire to do a thing was counted as a sin. (Matt. 5:28.) The law compels a man to go one mile, but Christianity makes it a joy to go two miles. (Matt. 5:41.) The law has a restraining influence while the real man who through Christianity has come to the new relation is constrained by love.

Christianity is not a hedge lodge of the old law and the new. The entire old law, ordinances, holy days, moons, sabbath, tables of stone, revealed at the mount by Moses were done away at the cross because they had fulfilled their purpose and Christ gave a better and complete law. See Matt. 5:17-18; II Cor. 3:7-11; Col. 2:13-6; Gal. 3:21-26; Heb. 7:12-19; Heb. 8:6-13.

Salvation is under the new regime. The New Testament, and men are saved by the grace of God, but grace is conditional. Men must believe, in the Christ, repent of their sins, and be baptized into the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Mark 16:15-16; Acts 2:38; 22:16.

The subject for tonight will be "Choosing for Christ."

Rev. R. E. L. Bearden, pastor of the First Methodist church of Morrilton, Arkansas, arrived yesterday and will spend a month with relatives and friends in Pontotoc county. He and his family are at present visiting his wife's parents, A. N. Davis and family in Steadman.

HE IS STILL BOOSTING ADA

COL. H. R. SNYDER TELLS OF IN-CIDENT SHOWING HOW WELL KNOWN ADA HAS BE-COME.

Petersburg, Ind., July 17, 1911.

Editor Ada Weekly News, Ada, Ok.: Dear sir—Here is some evidence that your little city is being advertised by outsiders many miles away from home and is becoming widely known as one of the most promising small cities in your state.

Recently I had occasion to visit the city of Indianapolis the capital of our state. While seated in one of the leading hotels I overheard a conversation that took place between a number of gentlemen, one of the number a scholarly man, whose name I did not learn, who had recently made a trip down through the southwest and who had evidently visited Ada, had the attention of a number of others and was explaining in a most satisfactory way by furnishing the proof and evidence, that Ada, Okla., had the brightest future of any little city he knew of in the southwest. He went on explaining and remarked: "Why, I can show you a town down there that is full of opportunities to make money in. Any wide-awake man with a little money, energy and judgment can make money in Ada, Okla., for years to come." He believes there will be fortunes made in Ada real estate in future. I joined in the conversation and indorsed all he had said in behalf of your city and advised him if he wanted to keep posted as to what was going to happen at Ada in the future it would be well to join your new Commercial body; that while I lived in Indiana that I had recently become a member of your new Chamber of Commerce and that I now considered myself one of Ada's boosters.

Yours very truly,
H. R. SNYDER.

Crop Reports More Encouraging.

Oklahoma City, Ok., July 18.—Crop reports are becoming more encouraging from certain sections of the state. According to J. C. Elliott, member of the Board of Agriculture, and Dr. J. K. Callicotte, state veterinarian, who were in Madill last week attending the six-day agricultural school, conducted under auspices of the state board, one bank in Madill paid out $20,000 on checks for oats in one day last week. They also report that there has been less of a drought in Hughes county than perhaps any other section of the state. Oats there have averaged from thirty to fifty bushels to the acre, bringing on the market from 50c to $2 1-2c per bushel. The wheat yield there will reach from twenty to twenty-five bushels and corn from fifteen to thirty bushels. Cotton prospects are said to be the best in the county's history.

Durant Residence Destroyed.

Durant, Ok., July 18.—The residence of J. F. Murphy, a jeweler, on North Second avenue, was almost totally destroyed by fire which originated from a defective flue at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Frank Love, a fireman, was crushed by a falling chimney. His condition is serious.

BURGLAR MAKES WATER HAUL AT FRISCO DEPOT

This morning between the hours of 1 and 5, a burglar entered the Frisco ticket office through a window on the north side of the building and pried open the cash drawer. However, he had his trouble for nothing, as all the cash had been taken out and not a cent was left behind. The discovery of the break was made when Mr. Wright, the ticket agent came down just before the Hustler arrived.

PATE BEAUCHAMP

STILL LIVING

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Pate Beauchamp, who was badly wounded in the duel with Oscar Collins at Roff, was still alive. Although the chances are very much against him, Dr. Wilkerson stated that if he managed to pull through the next two or three days, he may possibly survive.

Band Concert Saturday Night.

The first free concert of the Ada band will be given on the streets Saturday evening. A fine opportunity to hear good music, and it costs nothing to hear it. Give the boys the encouragement of your presence.

Cook's Pride Coffee

CENSUS OF ADA.

One of the essentials to free mail delivery for Ada is the official publication of a census directory. The News is preparing to publish this directory and has engaged Mr. Mel Davis to take the census of the city in connection with his official house numbering. The citizens of Ada are requested to assist Mr. Davis all possible in securing a complete and correct census.

R. L. Rollins of Bebee says that cotton could hardly be finer than it is in his vicinity.

AT THE BUSY DRUG STORE

Is seldom realized by many people. Even in good health one cannot use decayed vegetables or meats. It would not strengthen you as your food is intended to do. Neither do you care for fruits or flowers unless they are fresh.

You do not take drugs unless you are already ill, so it is even of more importance that they should be pure and fresh.

We give you the best and freshest drugs that money can buy. All prescriptions are properly prepared. We ask for your business on these principles. Isn't it good policy for you to patronize us on them?

A SATISFIED ADVERTISER.

Naturally it is some satisfaction to a paper to have a customer occasionally express his satisfaction, something like the following from the Schmelzer Arms Co., of Kansas City. In paying a bill for advertising presented them, the company writes: "We think it proper to say that we feel this amount has been well invested and you will certainly hear from us again
when in need of publicity in your city or vicinity."

A stuffed owl that sits as a sentinel above a row of stuffed sparrows in the office of John B. Doolin, state fish and game warden at Oklahoma City, became the target for an attack of live sparrows that flew in at the window during the absence of the warden and his employees. When they returned the owl was pretty well done up, his feathers littering the floor beneath his perch. The fighting birds were excited and ejected
with some difficulty.

If knocking paid dividends, what a handsome income some men would have. They would be in the millionaire class in a jiffy.

While enumerating a few of the things you have done for your friends
it might not be a bad idea to examine the other side of the account and see the extent of your obligations to them. The account might not appear altogether on the debit side of the ledger.

Too Much for Dad.

F. L. Stanton in the Atlanta Constitution, says:

When the very young man from college entered "dad's" study, in the new spring suit, the old gentleman,
beginning at the rainbow-banded straw, continued his admiring inspection until he encountered the tops of the smartly tied and saffron leathers.
Then his brow darkened.

"Stand off a bit there, Jimmie," he said, "where the light'll strike you full there, by the window."

"I like it well enough," said the old man, "till it gets to the shoetops,
but there's where I weaken, Jimmie—
there's where I draw the line."

BE MODERN AND UP-TO-DATE!

You will find it the best servant you

ADA ELECTRIC AND GAS CO.

You're to go out to lunch with me,
you know."

"Yes," said Jimmie, "but what's that got to do with it?"

"Just this, my boy. The morning papers says 'fair and warmer,' and I notice you're ready for a splash through the rain. I refer to that four-inch roll in your trousers. There's no chance to go wadin' in a branch today, and rain's out o' the question.
Unroll your trousers, lad, and let 'em
fall over your shoetops sensible.
Down with 'em Jimmie—'way down!
You're to walk the streets with your dad today, and it's lunch time now."

"Why, did," said Jimmie, "these trousers are the style made by a tailor that knows his business. The tailor put that roll on em himself. You won't meet a boy in a mile of streets
who thinks anything of himself, dressed ed at all, but his trousers'll have that roll to 'em."

"That's all right, Jimmie—but turn
'em down—turn 'em down."

As they emerged from the building
three young men entered. Jimmie nudged the old man.

"There," he said, "what did I tell you?"

(Three pairs of "loud" rolled trousers.)

"Four more!" said Jimmie, keeping count as they passed along.

Three blocks and forty-nine pairs of rolled trousers were on Jimmie's side of the argument.

"I reckon you've got a majority vote, Jimmie," the old man yielded.

"Come in, and order what you want for lunch. But let 'em hang as they are till we get back, then roll 'em up private, and go where you're a mind
to—but I'll be dinged if you'll walk along the street with me looking like that!"

During the meal the old man didn't have much to say. He appeared to be doing some thinking on the side.
That night he said to Jimmie's mother:

"Do you think you would have pinned the violets on my coat that moonlight night long ago, at the garden gate, whose latch clink was music
to my soul, if I had appeared before you as Jimmie is parading around today?"

"There, now!" said Jimmie's mother. "You're getting sentimental. I think it would have been all right,
if you had looked as fine as Jimmie
does today."

"Well? Didn't I?"

"Yes, dear. Jimmie is just as tall as you were then, and has your eyes and the very trick of your smile and the winning ways that—"

"Maybe so—but, thank heaven, they didn't wear trousers like that in those days!"

Floods in Mexico.

City of Mexico, July 19.—Five thousand people are near starvation and suffering for the simplest necessities of life at Leon in the flooded district according to representatives of the Mexican Red Cross who have just returned to the capital. Many others are in a similar state in Lagos, San Francisco, and En Carnacion in the state of Jalisco. Red Cross representatives state that the supplies they brought to Leon were not sufficient to relieve the distress for twenty-four hours,
and that they returned to Mexico to issue a call for help so that quick relief might be offered. Rains have continued and many even lack shelter.

Octavia Gulada, head of the Red Cross Brigade, says the Jefe Politico put obstacles in the way of the Red Cross distributing relief, wishing to make the distribution himself for political reasons. Through the agent a call for help will be issued by the Red Cross tomorrow.

Aeroplanes for Locating Forest Fires.

Spokane, Wash., July 19.—Major Frank A. Fenn, supervisor of the Selway national forest, embracing 1,600-000 acres formerly part of the Nez Perce reserve in Northern Idaho, predicts that the time is not far distant when aeroplanes and wireless telegraphy will be important factors in protecting timbered lands in the Pacific slope country. A man in a flying machine could do more accurate and extensive survey work in the mountains in a few hours, he believes,
than is usually accomplished by 20
rangers in a week when fires are raging in the rough country, and with wireless stations installed on the high peaks, he adds, it would be a comparatively easy task to assemble men and apparatus at convenient points to extinguish the flames and prevent spreading. Several hundred miles of telephone lines have been constructed this season to protect the forests and one big timber holding concern is making experiments with motorcycles in northern Idaho. So far this season there has been no serious fires in any of the Northwestern forests.

The Girl of My Dreams

A Novelization of the Play by Wilbur D. Nesbit and Otto Hauerbach
Novelized by WILBUR D. NESBIT
Copyright by W.D. Nesbit

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I. Harry Swift is spinning along in his auto, his thoughts dwelling in happy anticipation of a coming visit from his fiancée, Lucy Medders, a Quakeress, who nursed him when he was injured in an auto accident out in the country. His mind taken off of his surroundings by these pleasant thoughts he crashes into another auto containing a German count and a beautiful woman.
The woman's hat is ruined. Absent-mindedly Harry thrusts the remnants of the hat in his pocket and makes his escape.

CHAPTER II. Carolyn, Harry's sister, arrives to play hostess. Socrates Primmer, a distant relative of Lucy's, arrives
with a hat intended as a gift to Lucy.
Harry is trailed to his home by the German count and the lady of the damaged hat.

CHAPTER III. Who, it develops, is Mrs. General Blazes. She is in distraction lest her husband should hear of her escape. She declares that her milliner told her a duplicate of the ruined hat had been delivered to Harry's house. Responding to her demands for the hat Harry insists that he knows nothing about it. Lucy Medders and her father arrive and the Count is secreted in the library and Mrs. Blazes in Harry's bedroom.

CHAPTER IV. Lucy professes curiosity regarding the room in which Mrs. Blazes is hidden and Harry is forced to do some fancy lying.

possessor by it and not by his or her appearance.

Harry drew her toward him, still holding her hands. There was no mistaking his wish. Lucy, unsophisticated though she was, understood him.

"Nay, Harry," Lucy said. "The

know I do not think a girl should be kissed before she is wedded."

"All right!" Harry laughed, dropping her hands. "You always have your way with me. A girl ought to be mighty careful who kisses her after she is married, too, don't you think?"

Lucy smiled quaintly. Some of Harry's jests were a bit too flippant for her. Harry went on:

"Really, I'm mighty sorry I didn't meet you at the train. But, you see, I had a little trouble with my machine
this morning."

"It was as well that thee did not meet us. It would have spoiled father's plans. We wanted to find thee
in thy usual atmosphere."

Again Harry looked quickly at her.
The surroundings were such as to make him keenly alive to any possible suggestion of some other meaning than her words implied. But Lucy's face was as serious as ever. She looked about the room, and sighed:

"Thy house is just lovely."

"It will be," Harry said, glancing apprehensively at the door of the room where Mrs. Blazes was waiting patiently for her hat—"It will be when it's fixed up. Some things have to be moved out."

"And will thy sister—Carolyn—will she show me about the house?" Lucy asked.

"Certainly," Harry answered, gallantly. "But you don't need her. Just make yourself at home. Go anywhere you like."

Lucy started toward the room where Harry had placed Mrs. Blazes. But Harry was following her to detain her.

"And in here?" Lucy asked. "What have you there, Harry?"

"There? There?" Harry stammered.
"Why—why, that's just some old junk in there. Wouldn't interest you at all."

"A junk room? How odd!"

"Yes—I—you see—I used to have a fad of collecting junk."

The sweat was standing on Harry's brow. He knew that Mrs. Blazes could overhear him, and his brief experience with that lady taught him that she had a natural feminine aversion to being termed junk. If she should decide to assert herself by opening the door and making a few remarks! The thought was appalling.

"Come, Lucy," he suggested. "Let's go and see—and see the goldfish."

"Nay, Harry," she smiled. "Let me see thy collection of junk. I did not know thee were an authority on that."

"Later, Lucy," he said. "Later."

"Then I will peep into thy library,"

she decided. "Is not this it?"
She started to the other door, opening into the room where the Count was whiling the time away and contending his soul with such patience as he could muster.

"No, no!" Harry said, almost frantically, catching Lucy's arm. "Not now!"

"But why, Harry?"

"I—I've got a little surprise in there
for you, Lucy."

"A surprise? Oh, surprise me now!"
"That would spoil it all," he assured

her, feeling that his ruse was working.

"How can it surprise me later, when I know it is to be a surprise, anyway?" she asked, with feminine logic.
"Well—it will be a surprise—and I
—that is—"

"Now, Harry, thee has aroused my curiosity. I will see now."

"No," he told her, firmly. "Not now.
Later."

"But now, Harry."

"Oh, come, Lucy," he said, with a man's usual lack of judgment. "Be reasonable."

"Ah, thee call me unreasonable!
Oh, if father knew that already thee
had called me that!" she pouted.

"No, no. I didn't say you were unreasonable. I just—just asked you to be reasonable."

"But that is the same thing!" She stamped her little foot with the words
"Lucy, you misjudge me," he said solemnly. "I simply was not ready for you to look in there yet."

"Alas!" Lucy almost wept. "To think that we have had our first quarrel already!"

Harry came near to her and murmured:

"Well, let us make up. One kiss to show me you forgive me."

"Nay, Harry," she protested, but not very forcibly. "Thee knowest I do not approve of that."

"How can you approve of a thing until you have it?" Harry wanted to know. And then—

Socrates Primmer, hat box in hand, appeared in the doorway, and what he saw sent his heart thumping to his boot heels.

"Woe is me!" he said, sadly. "The time to give her my present is not yet."

And as he turned to go he collided with Carolyn. That plump young lady accepted his apology gaily, and left him still delivering it as he went down the hall, while she rushed to Lucy and greeted her effusively.

"We're going to have the jolliest time ever!" Carolyn cried delightedly.

"Well, Let Us Make Up. One Kiss to Show Me You Forgive Me."

"Come. Leave Harry to his own miserable company, and I'll show you your room."

As she turned, she remembered
something.

"Harry," she said, "I want some pillows out of your room."

Carolyn rushed to the door of Har-

That Would, In Six Months From Now
Be Half as Important
as it is Now, if it Should Stop Adver-

Time!

Isn't that perfectly true—perfectly logical?
Can you imagine any store of which it would not be true?

And, if true, does it not follow that the reverse of the proposition is true, too—that the store that doubles its accustomed advertising for the next six months will also double its accustomed store growth for that period?

And does not this, also, apply to any store
you can think of in this town?

A difficulty yesterday afternoon between Joe Watson and his wife in the flats resulted in the woman receiving several slashes about the head from her dusky spouse. The police landed the negro in the cooler and this morning a charge of fighting and of disturbing the peace was filed against him. Judge Powers assessed a fine and costs that totaled $9.75.

M. Lingenfelter informs the News that some charged that the chickens exhibited on Trades Day by Fletcher Reed and which took the prize, had been raised by Mr. Lingenfelter and were in reality his birds. He denies that such was the case. He purchased the prize pen of chickens from Mr. Reed after the show was over however.

Sol Moss was in from his farm near Stonewall today. He says his corn is a failure, like the crop of all others in that vicinity. For feed he is planting sixty acres of Kaffir corn and fifteen of cane and expects to make enough to run him. Millet was almost a failure. Cotton is doing as well as could be expected, although it needs rain to make enough stalk to bear a good crop.

The Surprise Store has been advertising bargains in the News lately that seem to be bringing the right sort of results. On Trades Day a lady found a small child lost on the street and having an idea that its mother was looking for bargains took it to the Surprise store, where sure enough the mother was found so deeply engaged in examining the bargains the News told about that she had not even missed the child. Yesterday another case just like it occurred.

Good Meeting at Center.

In a letter to the News written yesterday, Rev. W. J. Shipman says of the revival at Center. "We had a great service last night. C. Stubblefield is at his best. Large crowds, prospects good for a fine meeting."

FRANCIS.

The Frisco railroad has a full force of men at work rebuilding the coal chute that burned some weeks ago. The men will soon have it complete and the company will have a better chute than they had before the fire. The company will soon put a force to work putting in a scale large enough to weigh freight in carload lots. The gravel is here and the work will begin in the near future.

Work is progressing on the power plant and it is reported that we will in a very few days have the water flowing in to town. Mr. Poor is doing all that is in his power to push the work to completion.

D. M. Watson one of the better merchants of the town has just completed his residence one-half mile in the country by putting on two coats of paint.

Why is it that the business men of the town is going to let the gin proposition die? We need another up to date gin to help to build up the town and why is it that the business men of the town will not take the matter up and see that we get one? It will be the means of drawing more cotton and other traffic to the town and will be of direct benefit to every business interest of the city and vicinity.

About one inch of water fell here Wednesday of last week and the farming community is in much better spirits. Quite a number have begun to plant June and Kaffir corn hoping by so doing that they will get feed stuff for the livestock.

The officials of the Frisco were in town Thursday and met with the Board of Trustees to effect a contract for water to use at the round house.

Dr. Threlkeld informs us that the people of town and vicinity are distressingly healthy.

Mrs. A. T. Taylor has the carpenters at work putting a new roof on her residence and making other repairs.

Albert Goetter is having a bath and store room attached to his residence on 4th avenue.

Dick Robinson is now having a bath room and store room built in his barber shop on Main street.

The Pioneer Telephone Co. has a crew of men here engaged in stretching a copper wire from Holdenville to Ada. The men have the wire up from Holdenville to Francis and will go on with the work to Ada.

Mrs. Rushing, wife of J. R. Rushing died here Monday evening. Mrs. Rushing has lived in Francis almost since the birth of the town and was a consistent Christian and estimable lady. The deceased will be interred in the Cedar Grove cemetery today (Tuesday.) She does not leave any children but a husband, brothers and sisters to mourn her loss.

O. D. Wright has let a contract to build a bath house connecting with his new bungalow on West Main street.

GOLDSBORO HEARD FROM

A Lady Who Lives in Goldsboro Joins in the Chorus of Praise for Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.

Goldsboro, N. C.—"A physician treated me for many distressing symptoms," writes Mrs. Etta A. Smith, "but gave me no relief."

"I suffered with neuralgia around the heart and was troubled at times with my head. I had pain in my left side, bowels, left thigh, shoulders and arms."

"After taking Cardui, I am now well and can recommend it to other suffering women."

Just such doubtful symptoms, as those from which Mrs. Smith suffered, are the ones for which it will pay you to take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It is at such times, when there is nothing to show, for certain, the real cause of the trouble, that you need a tonic, to give the body strength to throw off the illness that evidently threatens.

Take Cardui, when you are ill, with the ailments of your sex. Take Cardui as a tonic, to prevent illness, when you feel it coming.

Your druggist keeps it.

Heyburn Cusses the Newspapers.

Washington, July 18.—Senator Heyburn of Idaho "waved the gory shirt" in the senate Tuesday, incidentally caustically criticizing the press gallery and the newspapers generally for what he termed "hostility to memorial legislation." The scene was one of the most remarkable the senate has ever witnessed.

Heyburn's outburst was caused by Senator Williams' bill to appropriate $50,000 for a monument to "the courage and constancy of the confederate navy on the Mississippi," to be erected in Vicksburg National park. Despite Senator Heyburn's protest against consideration of the bill, Senator Williams succeeded in having it taken up by a vote of 21 to 19. Senator Williams called attention to the fact that congress has already erected a monument in the Vicksburg National park to commemorate the valor of the union navy.

Shouts His Wrath.

Senator Heyburn shouted: "I cannot understand why anybody, who is loyal to his country, can vote for a monument to those who tried to destroy this country. In the newspapers it is made to appear that I take pleasure in stirring up strife. The newspapers are apparently in sympathy with this legislation."

Senator Heyburn then launched into a bitter denunciation of the Washington correspondents.

"The newspapers say that I am continually waving the bloody flag," said Senator Heyburn, "it's just like them, its silly."

"My mail is filled with unsigned letters, threatening and abusing me. Some of these writers say they will come to Washington and destroy my features. The letters were probably written at the back end of some bar and instead of coming to Washington to destroy my features, the writers will probably go out and get another drink."

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Ada Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Ada citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Ada by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Adolph Ridet, S. Sixteenth St., Ada, Okla., says: "I suffered from kidney disease for a couple of years and Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of every symptom. Since using them I have been free from the dull ache through my loins and the sharp, shooting pains across my kidneys that had frequently caused me so much misery. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at G. M. Ramsey's Drug Store and am always glad to give them my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Got by Him.

She signed herself "Your affectionate knob." He didn't catch on till she told him a knob was something to a-door.

Not a Reliable Man.

If a man contends he doesn't care for public opinion he is also apt to lie about other things.—Atchison Globe.

Blinded by Snow's Glare.

A curious mishap befell a tourist while climbing the Tyrolean Alps recently. Losing his snow spectacles in a fall he was rendered totally blind by the glare of the sun on the snow. It is uncertain whether he will ever recover his sight.

Don't Jibe Weil.

There are some who give away everything they bear; there are others who give away everything they earn; and there is a slight difference in their friendship.

Safety in Aviation.

The upper side of a dirigible balloon built for the British navy has been coated with aluminum dust to reflect the sun's rays and lessen the effect of their heat on the gas it contains.

Faithful to Duty.

When the army of Pompey stormed and took Jerusalem, at the moment the temple was taken, the priests were engaged with the daily sacrifice, and amid all the horrors which surrounded them, they continued their solemn duties unmoved, thinking it better to suffer whatever came upon them at their very altars than to omit anything their law required.
